James Tomlinson's Will

In the name of God, Amen, I James Tomlinson, of Bloom Township, Northumberland County and state of Pennsylvania, being in weak body, but of sound mind and memory, thanks be rendered to Almighty God, for all his blessings bestowed unpon me, and calling to mind the mortality of my body, and that it is appointed for all men once to die, do make this my last Will and testament in manner of following.

And first of all I recommend my soul into the hands of Almighty God that gave it, believing and not doubting that my body hall, through the mighty power of God, be united again at the general resurrection, and dwell with Christ above.

Secondly- I order my body to be buried in a christianlike manner and first being sorry at the botton of my hear for my past sins, and trust in the merits of my Savior Jesus Christ, and trust only in His blood alone, for salvation.

And now I come to the distribution of my worldly goods wherewith it hath pleased God to bless me with. I order all my debts and funeral charges to be paid.

And first, I give and bequeath unto my beloved wife Sarah (Yarnell) Tomlinson, for her future support, two cows and one heffer of own choosing, of my stock and one red steer for beef, and all my sheep and swine known by the name of hogs, and all my grain in the barn and other grain that is ugathered now upon the ground, and the crop of winter grain now to be put in the ground this present seed time, for her and my children likewise all my household goods for her and my children's use and support with the iron stove. I do allow my children to be schooled out of my estate, and the boys put to trades of their own choosing at the age of sixteen years and to choose their masters to learn any trade that they or any one of them may c may choose to learn, and further I do hereby submit all things relating to my estate unto my executors hereafter mentioned and praying them to accept of same.

And I do fully amply impower them fairly and justly to proceed in every particular without control of firneds or relations and to act as for themselves according to their best judgement in every case.

And now, for my executors to put all this my last will and testament in execution, I do appoint Andrew Creveling and John Patten to do as friends and trusty executors.

In Witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 18th day of September, One Thousand eight Hundred (1800).

My Dear Madam:-

In reply to your inquiry I would beg to state that I have examined the Revolutionary records, and do not find the name of James Tomlinson, I find a William Tomlinson, but, whether he was the father of James I cannot tell.

As regards James and George Gibson, I have no record of their military services during the War of the French and Indians.

James Gibson, who signed the memorial to the Assembly, in 1764, was a very prominent man in his section of the State. I am very sorry that I cannot give you any definite information. I return your circular.

Yours very truly,

Mr. William George Sullivan,
1545 North Meridian Street,
City.

Dear William:

Your last lot of material was fine. Like everything else you have done for me. You are the best helper I've found. Grandmother Wulschner was not as careful as yourself and you have taught me how to enjoy checking into all the details. I've gathered a lot of material on my mother's family which I never could have done without the helpfulness of knowing the way you work. I found two of my mother's cousins, one that I had never heard of before, and I've gotten a lot of information from them, but it's not all accurate.

In your last letter you gave me just the information that I want about the census records. I've started with Mr. Hills by writing him a letter in which I ask for census information at Terre Haute, Vigo County, Indiana. I gave him all that I know about Matthew Stewart and his wife, Elizabeth, and their five sons and one daughter. I gave him the full information, full names, approximate birth dates, etc., of all eight of them, and told him that the daughter married an Alexander McGregor. I'll let you know what he discovers. Am hoping that he will be able to find places of former residence. I doubt that any of them were born in Terre Haute. No, I'm wrong on this, as maybe the two youngest ones were born there. Anyway, it's reasonably certain that the oldest children were born elsewhere and if Mr. Hills advises me as regards the place of birth of them, then I ought to have a clue to work on. I'm sure glad you told me about him.

And when you get information on the Sullivan family from him, please tell me about it. I'm going to send a letter to a lady that has been recommended to me as a genealogist in Chestertown, Maryland. You know that this is the county seat of Kent County. I priorly made the mistake of writing to a Mrs Ethyl Howard Rothe in Elkton, Maryland. She was unable to find anything of any Sullivans except a lot of stuff that may mean nothing at all. For example, she said "most of the Sullivans were of the Methodist faith and lived near Summit Bridge, Delaware. The only Sullivan marriages I find in our court house around the dates you are interested in are John Sullivan married Margaret Kirk in 1778. This would take you into the Quaker families as all the Kirks around here came from with Wm Penn. Another John Sullivan 1793 married Elizabeth Cornelius and that would take you into the Dutch families near Warwick. I found one deed listed Joshua Sullivan whose wife was Ann. I find one of the Sullivans who lived near Warwick gave up the Catholic faith and Warwick is not far from the Delaware line -- I think looking over the Cecil Whig would be quite imposible as tried it once and had to give it up as a very

handling old papers that are not protected from the dust. Each week the Cecil Democrat has a 75 yrs ago column but I have never seen the name Sullivan as yet. And now to tell you about the Rudolph family, Zebulon Rudolph was a cousin of the wife of President James A Garfield, etc., etc -- He speaks of the Academy at Elkton, it was not completed until 1808 and it was a day school and is demolished now. A Rev Duke of the Episcopal Church had a boys school here a few years but it did not last. Only other academy for boys would be West Nottingham Academy run by people of the Presbyterian faith and most records of the pupils were lost, a fire having distroyed them. Rudolph did go to Memphis Tenn and some of the Rudolphs were Methodists. The only Universalist Church near here has been demolished and the names are gone."

You see, William, that I sent this lady a copy of part of the long letter that Z. Rudolph, Sr., mailed to William Sullivan in 1848. If there are errors in the above it is partly because the lady must be elderly and she writes in long hand and it's not easy to read and then too, I'm not so careful either. I told her to find information about the father of William Sullivan, namely David Sullivan, and also the father of David, namely Moses Sullivan. I also sent her excerpts from the Sulgrove history of Indianapolis. She had all the detailed information, names, dates etc., but she has been of no help at all, so far as I can see. Maybe you are smarter than I am and I know you are, and maybe you can get something out of it that I missed.

Sincerely,

George

My Dear Sir:

You favor of June 15th was not recd. till yesterday , in consequence of my absence from the city on a tour to the West and North. You refer to a certain power of Attorney in my hands; I enclose it.

You ask me to state frankly any reasons which should affect the estimate you ought to form of the business character of T.O.Larkin, Esq., of Monterey. In reply, I would state, that I am a clergyman and the pastor of a chh. in this city, and married a niece of Hon. Phillips Sweetser, recently deceased at Indianapolis. T.O. Larkin is a cousin of mince, who has resided for a number of years at Monterey, and has recently been appointed consul there to the U.S.A.

My correspondence with him has been more of a domestic than a business character, yet I am bound to say that I know of no reason, nor of any suspicion of a reason elsewhere, why entire confidence should not be placed in his word and integrity. While I say this, you will remember that I am no business man, and T.O.Larkin is my cousin. If I can be of any service to you, command me.

I remain Yours ever

Dear Sir:

I wrote you sometime ago concerning your assistance in a genealogy of the Tomlinson family. I know you are a son of Dr. Stephen Tomlinson. I assume that your father was a son of Charles Tomlinson of Indiana who died in 1879 at Clearmont(sic). If so our grandfathers were brothers. At all events I would like information along the line of accompanying papers.

Very Sincerely Yours

Enclosed with the above letter were two "forms" to be filled out with vital statistics, &c., and a pencilled note:

`You will see I am anxious to get every descendant of your grandfather Charles. If he be your grandfather.

I would also like as much information of your ancestors as you care to give me. If you are married & have children please indicate also your brothers and sisters.

Very sincerely

Indianapolis, Ind.

Dear Sir:

I have twice before written you concerning your genealogy. I have every reason to believe you to be a descendant of Charles Tomlinson, who died in Clearmont, Ind., 1879.

I am collecting material for a publication of our family and desire to make it complete. I wish therefore to trouble you for all you can tell me of yourself, ancestors and descendants. If you can furnish me with addresses of your relatives, so that I might correspond with them, I would appreciate it.

Very Sincerely Yours,

Copy of Original Draft, in Pencil, in the Handwriting of Dr. James MacCartney Tomlinson, of Indianapolis, Indiana, answering letters of September 20, 1896, and November 23,1896, from Samuel A. Tomlinson, Lansing, Michigan. Original in Possession of William George Sullivan, 1545 N. Meridian St., Indianapolis, Indiana, July 11th, 1945. Samuel A. Tomlinson's Letter of Nov. 23,1896, is written on the Stationery of the Supreme Court of Michigan.

Indianapolis, Nov. 27/'96

Mr. Samuel A. Tomlinson:

I have yours of date Oct. 20/'96 in which you ask for ancestral genealogy, And in which you volunteer the assertion that I am the son of Dr. Stephen Tomlinson. Who the Dr. Stephen Tomlinson was you refer to, I know not. But if you refer to the late Stephen D. Tomlinson of this City, you are mistaken, as he was my Brother. Now as to Charles Tomlinson as my relative, I know not. ~~I am not aware of~~ I am not aware of having any relatives outside of my Sister's descendants in this wide world. I would not be able to make myself known to them And do not think they could make themselves known to me. My part of the Family seems to have been singularly unprolific. As for Example, my Father had four Brothers neither(sic)of whom had to my knowledge descendants. And of my Father's children, there were four males neither(sic) had descendants. And as I am the sole survivor(unmarried), consequently have not and will not. Hence in time Extinction will be the result of the Family, as I am its only hope with probabilities of a million to one against it.

My Father, John Tomlinson, and Florinda, his wife, were born in Sunbury, Northumberland County, Pennsylvania. And emigrated from there to Cincinati, Ohio, A.D. 1812. He died in 1825, when I was but an infant. The remaining part of the Family came to Indianapolis in 1834, where the Grim Monster got in his work, swallowing all save as yet myself. And for all these years of my life (I) have not met but two of my Father's Brothers and then but once or twice and that about seventy years ago. Hence you will readily understand the situation. These remarks are made kindly and respectfully.

As to the ancestral line subjoined, I am indebted to the researches of my Niece, who was interested in Colonial Dames and Daughters of the Revolution.

The first ancestor to arrive in this country was Joseph Tomlinson And settled in Newton Township, Sussex County, New Jersey, prior to 1686. He died 1719, leaving a wife, Elizabeth, and the following Children, Ephraim, Joseph, Ebenezer, Richard, John, Othniel, William, Margaret Elizabeth, Mary and Ann. My Grand Father's name was James Tomlinson, who lived at Sunbury, Northumberland County, Penn., and whose will is there recorded. Now whether he descended from Richard or William aforesaid is unsettled.

My Father, as above stated, was John Tomlinson, and my Mother's name was Florinda, born Macartny. Their descendants were Ambrose Y., Clarissa, Stephen D., John, Florinda G., and James M., with James M. now sole survivor.

Respectfully,

(signed)James M. Tomlinson

Mr. Samuel A. Tomlinson,

Yours of date Oct. 20, '96, in which you ask for ancestral genealogy, received.

You volunteer the assertion that I am the son of Dr. Stephen Tomlinson. Who the Dr. Stephen Tomlinson was whom you refer to, I know not. But if you mean the late Stephen D. Tomlinson, of this city, you are mistaken, as he was my brother, and not as you state, father.

Of Charles Tomlinson as my relative, I know not. I am not aware of having any relatives outside of my sister's descendants in this wide world; I would not be able to make myself known to them and do not think they could make themselves known to me. My part of the family seems to have been singularly unprolific. As for example, my father had four brothers, none of whom had to my knowledge descendants. And of my father's children there were four males who left no descendants. I am the sole survivor (unmarried) consequently without issue. Extinction will be the result of the family, as I am its only hope with probabilities of a million to one against it.

My father, John Tomlinson, and Florinda(MacCartney), his wife, were born in Sunbury, Northumberland Co., Penn. And emigrated in 1812 from there to Cincinnati, Ohio. He died in 1825 when I was but an infant. The remaining part of the family came to Indianapolis in 1834, where the Grim Monster got in his work, swallowing all save as yet myself. All of these years of my life (I) have met but two of my father's brothers and then but once or twice and that about seventy years ago. Hence you will readily understand the situation. These remarks are made kindly and respectfully.

As to the ancestral line subjoined, I am indebted to the researches of my niece, Mrs. Flora Sullivan Wulschner, of this city, who is interested in "Colonial Dames" and "Daughters of the Revolution."

The first ancestor to arrive in this country was Joseph Tomlinson from London, England, who settled in Newton Township, Sussex County, New Jersey, prior to 1686. He died in 1719, leaving a wife, Elizabeth, and the following children: Ephraim, Joseph, Ebenezer, Richard, John, Othniel, William, Margaret Elizabeth, Mary and Ann. My grandfather's name was James Tomlinson, who lived in Winser(sic), Berks County, and Sunbury, Northumberland Co., Penn., and whose will is recorded in the latter town. Now, whether he descended from Richard or William aforesaid is unsettled.

My father, as above stated, was John Tomlinson, and my mother's name was Florinda, born MacCartney. Their descendants were Ambrose Yarnell, Clarissa (who married William Sullivan), Stephen D., John, Florinda Gibson, and James MacCartney, with the last named now sole survivor.

Respectfully,

James M. Tomlinson.

KNOWN FACTS, FAMILY TRADITION and CRITICAL OBSERVATIONS on the MC CARTNEY FAMILY, One of Paternal Lines of

WILLIAM GEORGE SULLIVAN, ESQUIRE, of Indianapolis.

Compiled by George Urie Stevenson,

4704 Drexel Boulevard, Chicago, Ill., July 20th, 1931.

THE ANCIENT FAMILY OF O'CARTIE, Macartney, Mac Cartney, or Mac Carthy has been identified with Ireland and Scotland from the earliest historic times.

O'Hart's Irish Pedigrees and John Rooney's Genealogical History of Irish Families deal extensively with many branchs of the clan.

The chief Scottish seat of the family was Auchinleck. It was from the Macartneys of Auchinleck that the family of Macartney of Lissanoure, Ireland, was derived. Burke's "Landed Gentry of Ireland"(London, 1912), page 429, gives the lineage as follows:

"George Macartney mar. 1522, Margaret, daughter of Godfrey Mac Cullogh of Fleet Bank, Kirkcudbright; his son Patrick mar. ....., dau. of John Mc Lellan, and had son Bartholomew(mar.1587, Mary Stewart of Auchinleck); their son Bartholomew mar. Catherine Maxwell, and had a son George Macartney, ancestor of Earl Macartney, Baron of Lissanoure(County Antrim, Ireland). The title is now extinct."

Burke's "Landed Gentry of Ireland," page 430, gives this account of this most distinguished scion of the family:

George Macartney, Earl Macartney(b.1737-died s.p.1806), son of George Macartney(whose father George Macartney was M.P. for Belfast for 40 years), by his wife Elizabeth Winder. Viscount Macartney of Dervock, Lord Macartney, Baron of Lissanoure in Ireland, and of Parkhurst and Auchinleck in Great Britain, Knight of the Most Honourable Military Order of the Bath, and of the Most Ancient and Royal Order of the White Eagle of Poland, one of H.M.'s most honourable Privy Council, Principal Secretary to the Lieutenancy of Ireland in the administration of Lord Townsend,1769, Captain General of Grenada(sic),1775, Governor of Fort St. George, East Indies, 1779, of Bengal, 1785, and later of Madras, and Ambassador Plenipotentiary to the Empress of Russia, Colonel of a Regiment of Militia Dragoons and Custos Rotulorum of County Antrim; was created Baron Macartney, 1770, and promoted Earl, 1794; mar. Feb.1,1768, Lady Jane Stewart, 2nd daughter of John, Earl of Bute, and died s.p., in 1806, when his titles became extinct.

The other gentle families of Macartney in Ireland are all from the same general stock, as will appear from the following excerpts from "County Families in the United Kingdom," by Edward Walford, M.A.(London, 1868), page 612:

Sir John Macartney, Bart., of Lish, County Armagh(created 1799); eldest son of the late Rev. Sir William Macartney, Bart., rector of Dysertegny, County Londonderry, by Ellen, dau. of the late Sir John Barrington, Bart.; the family is descended from a common ancestor with the Macartneys of Lissanoure. (Burke's "Landed Gentry of Ireland"..London, 1912, page 431, gives the lineage as follows: George Macartney of Blacket, Scotland, settled at Belfast, 1630; had son George(b.1640)mar. Martha Davies, and had sons George and Isaac, the latter the ancestor of Sir John Macartney, Bart. of Lish.)

George Macartney, Esq. of Lissanoure, County Antrim; eldest son of the late Rev. Travers Hume by Elzabeth, dau. of Major J. Ballyguier of Dublin; succeeded his mother(who inherited, as niece, the late Earl Macartney's estates in Ireland and Scotland), 1825.

John William Ellison-Macartney, Esq. of The Palace, Clogher, County Tyrone; only son of the late Rev. Thomas Ellison, by Catherine, 2nd dau. of Arthur Chichester Macartney, Esq., K.C., of Murlough, County Down; b. 1818; succeeded his uncle 1858: he assumed by Royal license in 1859, the surname and arms of Macartney, after his maternal uncle, the late Rev. W.G. Macartney.

Burke's Peerage and Baronetage(1928), page 1520, gives the following sketch of the first Sir John Macartney of Lish(which we offer to show the connection with the Auchinleck branch): b. March 9, 1747-d. May 29, 1814, M.P.; created Baronet of Lish, Jan. 4, 1799. He was the second of the two sons of William Macartney(d.1797), M.P. for Belfast for 40 years, who mar. Catherine Banks, dau. of Thomas Banks of Corfe Castle, mar. Elizabeth Montgomery. The father of William Macartney was Isaac, who married Anne, sister and coheiress of John Haltridge.

I have covered the titled and landed Macartneys, as shown above, at some length, to show that the Earl Macartney(who died without issue)was the only individual to legally bear the title "Lord Macartney." This seemingly is at variance with your family tradition that Laughlin Mc Cartney was "the youngest son of Lord Mc Cartney and his wife Lady Flora Mc Donald." The term "Laird" was used in Scotlabd to designate a magistrate, who likewise was generally a landed proprietor. Research in Scotland may reveal that status for the father of Laughlin McCartney. Nor is there anything incompatible with the legend that his wife was a "Lady Flora McDonald," even if not identifiable as the partisan of the "Young Pretender."

Your family legend says: "Laughlin McCartney came to America in 1755, with the Queen Regiment under General Braddock." There was no Queen(or Queen's)Regiment in the Braddock Expedition. According to History of Braddock Expedition, by Winthrop Sargent,M.A.(Piladelphia, 1856), page 195, the forces consisted of the 44th and the 48th regiments, which had been stationed in Ireland in 1754(see page 132), increased by Maryland and Virginia levies to 1400 men, a company of Guides(a captain, 2 aides and 10 men), 30 sailors from the transports, and a company of Lighthorse. Page 141, ibid., gives the names of the transports as leaving Cork, January 14, 1755, and consisting of the following vessels: Anna, Terrible, Osgood, Concord, Industry, Fishburn, Halifax, Fame, London, Prince Frederick, Isabel and Mary, Molly, and the storeships Whiting, Newall and Nelly.

Apparently there is no list of private soldiers in Braddock's army, extant. Lowdermilk's "Cumberland, Maryland," page 164, gives a list of the officers killed and wounded and deserted, in the same work, but Laughlin McCartney is not among them. This does not in the least disprove the tradition that he came over with Braddock, but the name of the Regiment (which is not important) is not sustained. Where he dwelt after being mustered out of service, is not apparent, but it may have been Lancaster, Pennsylvania, as we find him revealed here as a taxable in 1771, paying 4 shillings(see page 10, Vol. XVII, 3rd Series, Pennsylvania Archives), and again in 1772(page 295), and as a tavernkeeper in Lancaster Boro in 1773(page 461).

Sometime thereafter he moved to Mahoning Township, Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, where we find him with property in excess of £296 and 300 acres (296 pounds and 300 acres)(see page 427, Vol. XIX, ibid.) He is shown as taxpayer there each year until 1788.

Heads of Families, Federal Census of 1790, Pennsylvania, page 186(copy in Indiana State Library)shows Laughlin McCartney as a resident of Northumberland County, Penn'a., with a family consisting of himself(1"Free White Male of 16 years and upward, including heads of families"); one white male under 16 years(his son?), five free white females(probably his wife and four daughters), and two other free persons. A Henry McCartney is found in the same county, with a family comprising himself and wife, and three white males under 16 years. Therewas also a Captain John McCartney in the state of Pennsylvania at the time, but no relationship is apparent.

The Revolutionary record of Laughlin Mc Cartney, as shown by the Pennsylvania Archives, is as follows:
(see page 23, Vol. V, Series 5) Laughlin McCartney, private in battalion of Northumberland County Associators, under Col. Hunter and Capt. Christian Gillespie, was a delegate to a Convention in Lancaster, Pa., July 4, 1776.

For the above service, Laughlin McCartney received Depreciation Pay from the Penna. Govt.(see page 371, Vol. IV, Series 5, Pa.Arch.). His name is also attached as witness to receipt of Certificate of Joseph Sprague of Northumberland County Rangers, about June, 1784(page 692, Vol. VIII, Series 5). After the War, he retained his interest in military matters, as private in Capt. Samuel Gardner's 7th Co., 2nd Bn., Northumberland Co. Militia, May 4, 1790. Incidentally, 2nd Lt. Andrew Gibson is revealed as an officer of 2nd Co., 1st Bn., Northumberland Co. Associators, Feb. 8, 1776(see page 634, Vol. VIII, Series 5, and p. 332, Vol. VI, ibid.). Thomas Urie, Sr., sub. lt. Bedford Co., Pa., paid Andrew Gibson 44 Pounds, 10 shillings for hauling arms, Sept., 1777 to March, 1778(see pp. 26 and 27, Vol. VIII, Series 3, Pa. Arch.). The latter may have been a relative of Mary Gibson, wife of Laughlin McCartney (G.U.S.).

The Records and Indices of the Recorders' and Sheriff's Office at Sunbury, Northumberland County, Pa., show that Laughlin McCartney was a Innkeeper and owner in the town of Northumberland, opposite Sunbury, until the year 1791. His inn was the rendezvous for the Council, and the storehouse for ammunition and salt. Vol. XIV, Series 2, Pa. Archives brings this fact out, as follows:
(page 355) Monday, Feb. 26, 1776, Committee(of Safety)for Northumberland County met at house of Laughlin McCartney in Northumberland Town, and with Capt. John Hanbright in the chair, petitioned the Committee of Safety in Philadelphia to commission officers for the six companies of Associators.
(page 362) Laughlin McCartney, John Boyd(clerk) and Thomas Robinson chosen to serve in the Com. for Mahoning Township, for six months beginning Aug. 13, 1776. Laughlin McCartney, at whose house ammunition is stored, to divide it between the six companies.
(page 364) Laughlin McCartney and John Boyd appointed to bring up ammunition and lead from Harris' Ferry.
Laughlin McCartney on various committees for this purpose.
(page 383) Meeting at house of Laughlin McCartney, June 10, 1777.

There seems no likelihood that the other Pennsylvania families of the name of McCartney were near relations, although it is certain that they sprang from the same general stock in Scotland and the North of Ireland. The hosts of McCartneys of Huntingdon Co., Pa., are descendants of John and Rosanna(Resides)McCartney, both born in Ireland, who had a son, John R. McCartney(b. Centre Co., Pa., 1810)(see page 96, Runk's "Juniata Valley, Pa."). A contemporary, James McCartney, a native of Penna. but of Scotch-Irish descent, has descendants at Greenwood Furnace, Huntingdon Co., Pa.(page 148. ibid.). Rev. Francis McCartney, Methodist minister, famous in early annals of Western Pennsylvania, was born in Ireland, and married in Luzerne Co., Pa., in 1805, Mary Jameson(see page 565, "Harvey Book," pub. in Wilkesbarre,Pa., 1899). Part Two,"Alleghany County, Pa.,"(pub. by Warner, Chicago, 1889)cites another family of McCartneys, whose descendants are resident in Pennsylvania, but who probably came to America after the Revolution: (page 456) George McCartney, farmer near Masseyburg,Pa., had son John, who mar. Phoebe Massey, and had a son Robert(b.1814). (page 694, ibid.)George McCartney of Lancaster Co., Pa., of Scotch birth, married Jane Lees. Their son Andrew born in Lancaster County, 1811; family moved to Chartiers Township, near Pittsburgh, in 1827. "Perley Family," by M.V.B.Perley(Salem, Mass., 1906), page 383, gives another McCartney trace, thus: Francis McCartney, said to be of the Auchinleck family, of that name, mar. in Ireland, Mary Henderson: their dau., Frances Eliza McCartney(b. King's Gate, near Dublin, Feb.14, 1810), mar. in New York, Samuel Perley.

Some other American lines, seemingly not related, but cited here for the purpose of elimination, are thus recorded:
"History of Boone Co., Ill." (Kett, publisher, Chicago, 1877), page 396: John McCartney mar. Jane..... in Bedford Co., Pa.; removed to Belvidere, Boone Co., Ill, in 1857; his son Addison S.(b.1845).
"History of Fulton Co., Ill." (Chapman, pub., Chicago, 1879), page 922: Andrew McCartney (B. in Ky.); his father James from Virginia, came to Illinois in 1839.
"History of Pike Co., Ill." (Chapman, Pub., Chicago, 1880), page 747: Francis McCartney (B. Ross Co., Ohio, 1811); came to Illinois in 1850; had 10 children.
"History of Northern Wisconsin" (page 1029) David McCartney(born County Down, Ireland,1815), Presbyterian, early pioneer of Northern Wisconsin, living at Fort Howard.

Perusal of the above fragments, convinces me that the quest for Laughlin McCartney's forebears must be pursued first among descendants of the name who have preserved family traditions that might offer clues. There may be some of the name about Northumberland Town , or Sunbury, Pa. Search in Scotland and Ireland in documents of the period of 1755, ought to yield results, also.

Recapitulating the evidence thus produced, we can reconstruct the career of Laughlin McCartney as follows:
.....LAUGHLIN McCARTNEY (born probably in Scotland, -died probably in Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, about 1810, or 1812?), son of Lord(?)(Laird?).....McCartney, who married Lady Flora MacDonald(?); said to have come to America in 1755, in the expedition of General Braddock, and when mustered out of service, located in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, where he kept an inn,1773; moved to Northumberland Town(Mahoning Township), Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, just before the Revolution, in which he served as delegate to Convention of patriots at Lancaster in 1776, in committees for distribution of salt and ammunition under the Pennsylvania Committee of Safety, private in a battalion of Northumberland County Associators under Capt. Christian Gillespie, and in 1790, was a member of the militia of the county; married(probably in Pennsylvania), date(?), Mary Ann Gibson(b.1750, where(?), -died Cincinnati, Ohio, September 22, 1832, "Aged 82,"(says Jno. Tomlinson Bible), who was a heroine in an episode in the French-and-Indian War, which earned her a memorial Chapter of the Children of the American Revolution(Consult archives of the Society in Washington, D.C.). Some research will be necessary to establish her line, as there is little printed on the subject in the records of Newberry Library, Chicago. She may have belonged to the Gibsons of Lancaster County,Pennsylvania(where it is probable that Laughlin McCartney met and wed her). The following references to the Gibsons are to be found in the Third Series, Pennsylvania Archives: (page 418, Vol. XXIV) : William Gibson had surveyed for him in Lancaster County, Pa., on May 24, 1749, certain lands; on January 6th, 1749, Mary Gibson was granted 70 acres in same county.
(page 67, Vol. XVIII): Mary Gibson, paxpayer on 30 acres, Amity Township, Berks County, Pa., 1767; we also find her paying on this acreage in 1768, 1779, 1780, 1781, and 1784(p.101, ibid., et seq.)
(page 39, Vol.XI): Andrew and Alexander Gibson, taxpayers in Chester Co., Pa., in 1765. The latter Andrew Gibson may have been the 2nd Lieutenant Andrew Gibson of Northumberland Co. Militia in the American Revolution, and perhaps a near relative of Mary Gibson, the wife of Laughlin McCartney.

There is no definite record of the children of Laughlin McCartney and his wife, Mary Ann (Gibson) McCartney. The Federal Census of 1790 for Pennsylvania, as we have seen, shows him with a son under 16 years, and probably four daughters. The Family Record in the John Tomlinson Family Bible gives the date of birth of another daughter, Florinda. The personnel of the family, we will set down, tentatively, as follows:

(1)..... _____(son) (b. about 1775 in Northumberland);
(2)..... _____(dau.)
(3)..... _____(dau)
(4)..... _____(dau)
(5)..... _____(dau)
(6) Florinda, b.Northumberland, Pennsylvania, November 20, 1791-d. Indianapolis, Ind., May 20, 1854, aged 62 years, 6 months; buried in Crown Hill Cemetery, Indianapolis, where these dates are of record); married, Northumberland(?),Pa., January 6, 1811, to John Tomlinson (b. Berks Co.(?), Pa., February 9, 1789,-d. Ft. Gibson, Louisiana[now in Oklahoma], July 10, 1825), with whom she moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, before 1813. Their children(of record) were:

(1)...Ambrose Yarnell Tomlinson(b.Northumberland(?), Pa.(?),-d. probably San Jose, Upper California, 1847, or later), left Cincinnati, as a young man(1827 says the family legend), going out West, and settling at Pueblo de San Jose, Upper California, and seems never to have come back East. Married Maria de Jesus Bernal. Last heard from in 1847;
(2)...Clarissa Tomlinson(of whom more below);
(3)...Stephen Decatur Tomlinson(b.Cincinnati, Ohio, August 17, 1815 -d. in Indianapolis, November 14, 1870.. buried in Crown Hill Cemetery-- dates there recorded), married Mary Todd Brown; no living heirs.
(4)...John Tomlinson(b.Cincinnati, July 11,1817 -d. Cincinnati, July 19, 1833);
(5)...Florinda Gibson Tomlinson(b.Cincinnati, June 2(Family Bible says July 2nd),1819,-d. unmarried in Indianapolis. April 4, 18671 buried Crown Hill Cemetery);
(6)...Dr. James McCartney Tomlinson(b.Portsmouth, Ohio[according to Crown Hill Cemetery Records],Cincinnati[according to obituary notice],October 25, 1821; died unmarried in Indianapolis, April 9, 1903, aged 81 years, 6 months).

III...CLARISSA TOMLINSON[3] (Florinda McCartney[2], Laughlin McCartney[1])(born Cincinnati, Ohio, February 27, 1813-d. Indianapolis, June 29, 1895); married Indianapolis, March 8, 1835, to William Sullivan(born Kent County, Maryland, April 25, 1803-died Indianapolis, September 22, 1886); they had 4 children, viz:

(1) William Sullivan, Jr.(b. Indianapolis, abt. 1836-d.Indianapolis, abt.1840: shows in Federal Census for Indianapolis and Marion County for 1840 as infant son, under 5 years of age).
(2) Clara Elizabeth Sullivan (b. Indianapolis, June 22, 1842-d. Indianapolis, March 30, 1886);married .....Colonel Richard Flinthum May(b. probably in Elkton, Maryland, about 1824-died Bozeman, Montana, April 22, 1901, aged 77 years; buried in Crown Hill Cemetery, Indianapolis); had one son, William Sullivan May, D.D.S., b., Indianapolis(?), abt. 1867-d. New York City, abt. 1930?), married .....Eva Jacobs, of Louisville, Ky., had two children: Flora Vivian May(b. New York City, July 8, 1893.....marriages?); William Sullivan May, Jr.(b. Vice-president and member of Board of Directors, American States Insurance Company, Indianapolis, Indiana. Republican, Episcopalian.

After preparing the foregoing from data in the Newberry Library, Chicago, and other material furnished by William George Sullivan, George Urie Stevenson had access to the Second and Third Federal Census(i.e., those of 1800 and 1810), in which he found the following:

2nd Federal Census(1800), Laughlin McCartney is shown as living in Northumberland Town, Point Township, Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, himself over 45 years, a son between 10 and 16 years, two females(his daughters?)between 10 and 16 years, one female(daughter?) between 16 and 26 years; his wife between 26 and 45 years.

3rd Federal Census(1810),Laughlin McCartney is shown in Northumberland Town, Point Township, Northumberland County, Penn'a., himself over 45 yrs., female child under 10, female 16-26, his wife over 45 years.

4th Federal Census(1820)does not show Laughlin McCartney,as he evidently died after the 1810 Census, but his son, Samuel McCartney, shows in Northumberland Town, Point Twp, Northumberland Co., Penn'a., himself between 26 and 45 years, one son under 10, one daugher under 10, his wife under 45 years.

"Fifty years ago this evening, William Sullivan and Miss Clarissa Tomlinson were united in marriage by the late Bishop Ames,* in this city. Their children, Mrs. R. P. (sic) May, of Helena, M.T., Mrs. Emil Wulschner and George R. Sullivan were very desirous of holding a reception befitting such an occasion, but the prolonged and serious illness of Mrs. May prevented it from taking place."

SCHOOL.

The Subscriber will open a SCHOOL on Monday morning, the 13th inst., at the corner of [illegible] and Delaware Streets, in the School Rooms occupied until then, by Mr. G. H. Quigg. In this Institution, particular attention will be paid to Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, Geography, English Grammar and Book Keeping.

And, if required, the Elements of Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry, Surveying, Natural Philosophy and [illegible]. Being myself a practical Surveyor, I am enabled to give those young gentlemen Field Exercises, who may find it convenient to study with me. I will, moreover, instruct them in Mathematical Drawing and Painting, and in every particular, fit them for practice. Prices moderate.

Desirous of becoming a permanent resident of Indianapolis, my chief aim will be the improvement of the scholars committed to my charge, and, therefor, I hope to receive and merit a liberal patronage.

As a reference, I am permitted to make use of the following gentlemen's names, viz:- Judge [illegible], [illegible] Morrison (Editor of the Democrat), Arthur St. Clair, [illegible], and Mr. John H. [illegible].

Should sufficient encouragement be given, I will open an Evening School on the First Monday in November, for the benefit of those young men who may wish to improve in Reading, Writing, Arithmetic, etc.

[illegible]

Indianapolis, 10th, October, 1834.

Having declined teaching in favor of Mr. SULLIVAN, I take pleasure in recommending him to my former patrons, as a gentleman competent to teach, and worthy their patronage.

GEO. H. QUIGG.
